

The clear aligners are a customized orthodontic device intended for teeth straightening for a particular patient.

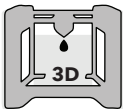

The treatment process

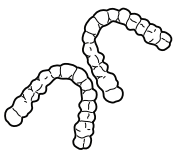

Once you decide to use K Clear, your doctor will take impressions of your teeth and make clinical photos and X-rays.

Based on this, a treatment plan will be created using 3D technology. So you can see, how the final result will look like even before you start the treatment.

If you are satisfied with the visualized final result, the transparent aligners are manufactured individually for you using the latest technologies.

You will receive your set of aligners in a couple of weeks time. At check-ups, your doctor will provide you a set of new aligners.

What is K Clear?

Transparent, gentle and painless: straighten up your teeth with K Clear.

They are transparent plastic trays, each numbered in sequences and to be worn for almost two weeks each. They are manufactured through state-of-the-art 3D technology to bring the precision and effectiveness to your teeth straightening treatment.

The treatment is possible in every phase of life and especially popular with adolescents and adults. Also for patients, whose teeth have been straightened during their youth, but have moved back to their original position over the years, the treatment is suitable.
